Schools and Politics.

Of Coalveton.

It was supposed by the friends of the ne school law, that the system to be introduced Peace. Under the provisions prescribed by by that measure, would be kept separate from the party polities of the day. That all, without distinction of creed, would endeavor to set it in motion with a view to the benefit of the whole people, and not make it a hobby to be rode by Whig or Locofoco. But in this reasonable expectation they are doomed to be disappointed. This is no chimera of our own. There is ample proof that the locofocos are determined, at road' shall be opened for carrying passengers party aggrandizement. The big roosters of the 1853. party are beginning to crow, and henceforward the whole tribe of rising chickendom, with thick voices, and elongated necks, will be vociferaling their cock-a-doo-dle-doo.

They will charge that the whigs first made the attempt to ride it as a hobby; but to set this matter right at the beginning, we will show conclusively that no such complaint will lie. We do not charge that the masses of the democracy wish to entangle it with party politics. They all have an interest in the success of the movement, and are not disposed to encumber it with what does not properly belong to it. A good system of common schools is what they want, no matter by whom organized, or carried into effect. But to the proof.

It is well known that the Ohio Statesman is the organ of the locofoco party in the State, and that in whatever direction it may lead, all the smaller fry will follow. Well, the said Ohio Statesman, in speaking of the State Commissioner, holds the following language :

education has nothing to do with Democracy It is its life blood.

"Our colleges and schools have been too often the nurseries of Federal ideas. Why do so many of our young men, emerge from these seminaries of learning, with spectacles on their house the second Monday day of aprile, namysupercilious noses, all perfumed with conserva- ley on the 11 day of the month 1853 at one tiam; ready odanco naso, to sneer at "com- clock in after mon men," ready to pine if a blacksmith or a a full borde. butcher should come betwixt the wind and their nobility. Too many of our professors and literary men inculcate, while they illustrate, a certain intellectual pride, or foppery, which indicates everything but true culture.

In fine, we request the people to view this matter as it should be looked at, and do not suffer a corrupt central clique to use you as the instruments for the destruction of your children's best interests. Such an attempt is being made, as is clearly evidenced by the foregoing extracts, and it will be carried out unless you determine it shall be otherwise.
